INTERPORT CRICKET

Shanghai

Recovery

AFTER BAD START

Brilliant
Fielding

Shanghai, Oct. 6.
After a shaky start when at one stage they had lost four wickets for 97 runs, Shanghai recovered remarkably during the afternoon and at the end of the first day's play in the Interport cricket match against Hong Kong, had scored 286 for the loss of six wickets.

Three batsmen, Barson, the Shanghai captain, Pat Madar and Leckie passed the 50 mark, the latter two being undefeated with 51 and 50, respectively, to their credit.

The weather was cloudy and the wicket fast.

Barson was successful with the spin of the coin, and decided to bat.

Stokes and Sevenoaks opened the innings.

There was a sensational start. Before he could open his account, Stokes touched a ball from Perase and was caught by Colledge at the wicket. (1-1-1).

POSSESSION OF ARMS

Two Men Discharged
And Fined

Kwu Chung Ching, Kwok Fat and Lee Kang Yin, appeared on remand before Mr. Q. A. A. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday charged with the possession of arms and ammunition.

Inspector A. H. Elston prosecuted.

Chung Yu Lin, contractor foreman, said that on September 22 at 4.30 p.m., when he returned home he found the first and second defendants there. The second defendant asked him for money and when the defendant was asked if he could put up security, he produced a Mauser revolver.

Det. Sergt. J. Headridge stated that he was taken to a clump of bushes in Kowloon City, and was shown a revolver and four rounds of ammunition.

The weapon was in serviceable condition.

Mr. Macfadyen: From the facts, it tends to show that the first and second defendants knew a lot more about the case, but there is a deficiency of evidence on which to convict them.

The first and third defendants were discharged.

The second defendant said that he had been given the gun by a friend in the Cantonese Army for him to sell, and being afraid, hid the gun under the bush.

Mr. Macfadyen disbelieved his story, and fined him $500 with the alternative of six months' hard labour.

CARGO WORTH $5,000,000

SPECIE FOR LOCAL BANK

From Shanghai

With a cargo of specie valued at $5,000,000, the Chinese customs vessel, "Hsi Hsing," berthed at the Douglas steamship wharf on the praya early yesterday.

Under heavy guard, the specie was removed expeditiously from the hold of the customs ship to the vault of a local bank.

This "treasure" has been transferred from Shanghai to Hong Kong for political reasons which would be improper to divulge publicly at this stage.

METEOROLOGY CONFERENCE PROPOSED

To Meet In Hong Kong

The science of meteorology owes much to international co-operation, and of late years the International Meteorological Organisation has laboured to promote uniformity of methods in the different meteorological services of the world. This organisation is governed by the International Meteorological Committee and delegates different sections of its activities to various Commissions. At intervals of six years a Conference of Directors of the Meteorological services of the World, renews or modifies the mandates of the Commissions, and re-elects the International Meteorological Committee.

Although the term "international" is used, the constitution of the Committee and the Conference has been mainly European, and the venue of the Conference has been in Europe.

BRITISH CONSUL AT GORE

Evacuating With Foreign Nationals

London, Oct. 6.
News has been received in London that Captain Erskine, British Consul at Gore is making good progress with his evacuation and is expected shortly to arrive at Gombella, a hundred miles distant. He has proceeded over mountain passes through bandit-ridden country by mule train with a party of foreign nationals, mostly Greeks, ahead of him, and followed by Ras Imru, at one time commander of the northern Abyssinian army. Ras Imru is leaving Abyssinia and has been given permission to settle in Uganda.

Practically all foreigners have left Western Abyssinia except a few traders at Jimma and some missionaries at Sirama who consider it safer to stay rather than risk the perils of the journey—British Wireless.

END OF RESISTANCE?

London, Oct. 6.
What may indicate virtual end of organised Abyssinian resistance in Abyssinia is contained in the news reaching London to-day from Captain Nourne Erskine, British Consul at Gore, that Ras Imru, leading commander of the northern Abyssinian army against Italy and later joint head of the Abyssinian Government at Gore, is accompanying him to Gambella on the Sudan Frontier. Ras Imru has been given permission to settle in Uganda.—Reuter.

SINO-JAPANESE RELATIONS

Tokyo Instructions
To Ambassador

KAWAGOE-CHIANG MEETING

Nanking, Oct. 6.
Immediately on his arrival here by air from Shanghai this morning, Mr. Kuwahara conferred with Mr. Kawagoe to whom he conveyed instructions from Tokyo concerning reopening of Sino-Japanese negotiations.

The much heralded meeting between General Chiang Kai-shek and Mr. Kawagoe is fixed for tomorrow afternoon when the Japanese Ambassador will be received at General Chiang's private residence at the central Military Academy.

Although Chinese political circles label the event as merely a "courtesy call," much significance attaches to the meeting as indicating the resumption of Sino-Japanese negotiations.—Reuter.

CHINA'S DEFENCES

Canton, Oct. 6.

It is reported that owing to the dangerous world situation, and the increasing tension at Shanghai and in North China, the Central Government is feverishly occupied with the work of strengthening the defences of the country against foreign aggression.

As already declared by Dr. Wang Chung-hui, former President of the Nanking Judicial Yuan, and General Chang Hsi-ling, China is only anxious to protect herself from foreign aggression and invasion, and should the peace in the Far East be endangered or broken by the aggressive acts of any foreign power, that power alone shall be held responsible and liable for what happens.

General Chen Bing of the Central Military Affairs Department, and Adviser of the Kwangtung Army flew from Hankow to Nanchang to interview Marshal Chiang Kai-shek a few days ago, and it is reported that he flew to Canton yesterday morning with Marshal Chiang's instructions to General Yu Han-mow, and landed at the "Tin Ho" Aerodrome at 10 a.m.

HOW AMERICA IS FIGHTING ITS CRIMINALS

Total Annual Crime Bill Of
15,000,000,000 Dollars

America's wave of sensational kidnappings, which began four years ago with the abduction of Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., ended when Bruno Hauptmann was electrocuted for his crime. Within recent weeks, agents of the Federal Department of Justice, or G-men, as they are called, captured Alvin Karpis, Thomas Robinson, and George Mahan, the only important kidnappers at large.

The capture of the three, two of whom were immediately convicted and imprisoned, brought to a sensational height the already extraordinary record of the G-men in their war against kidnapping. In the period of approximately four years a score of kidnapping cases had been handled by the Federal police without a single failure to solve. This record is so impressive that many persons are inclined to regard America's perennial crime problem as largely ended through the intervention of the Washington Government in a field previously regarded as exclusively State and local. In spite of such optimism by citizens, officials of the Department of Justice, and particularly Mr. J. Edgar Hoover, head of the Division of Investigation, have no illusions.

OPERATIONS LIMITED

In appraising the value of his organization, Mr. Hoover has said often that its operations are strictly limited, both as to the criminal and the type of crime with which it may concern itself. Originally the department confined its activities to crimes clearly in violation of Federal laws—counterfeiting, mail robbery, and the sale of narcotics. The Lindbergh law, which made it an offence to transport a kidnapped person across a State line, greatly enlarged the sphere of activity of the G-men. The rise three or four years ago of such desperadoes as Gerald Chapman and John Dillinger, who roved from State to State committing murders and bank robberies, brought Mr. Hoover and his agents into direct conflict with criminals who indulged extensively in interstate crime. This extension of authority has never been constitutionally defined. Recently the first death penalty for kidnapping under the Lindbergh law was imposed. A man found guilty of kidnapping a peace officer, maltreating him, and carrying him into another State, was hanged after the Supreme Court denied him protection under the Bill of Rights.

AN ALARMING PICTURE

In a recent forum on problems of crime held in New York City Mr. Hoover painted an alarming picture. He declared that one in every sixteen homes may expect to fall victim to robbery, arson, rape, assault, murder, or other felony. About 12,000 murders, he declared, were in 1935 part of the 1,445,581 major crimes perpetrated by 2,000,000 active criminals. In addition to crimes of violence, he added, an unestimated number of men was engaged in illicit enterprises, including gambling, moral offences, trade and labour rackets of all kinds. As a result, the nation pays a total annual crime bill estimated at fifteen thousand million dollars, half enough to pay off the huge national debt. "The American home and every person in it," Mr. Hoover declared, "is to-day in a state of siege."

CORRUPT POLITICS

Mr. Hoover placed the blame for such conditions largely on corrupt politics, particularly as they affect parole and clemency commissions. He condemned light sentences and early parole of criminals convicted of homicide, pointing out that the average term served for such convictions is only 43 months. More than 3,000 prisoners serving homicide sentences are placed on parole every year, he added, after having been imprisoned for an average period of fewer than ten years for murder. "Largely by cause of this inadequate punishment," Mr. Hoover said, "before the sun sets to-night 35 persons in the United States will have been wiped out by the hands of the murderer. In this country are 200,000 persons who will commit murder before they die, and 300,000 persons now living will die by the bullet, or the knife or the club or the poison of the army of murderers."

OUTLIVED GAUDY PHASE

It is difficult for one who does not live in America to associate the seemingly flourishing state of crime with the decrease in publicity now attending it. The answer is that crime has outlived its gaudy and spectacular phase, and is now largely operated in a more or less routine, business-like manner. The prohibition days of the last decade, when rival gangs held pitched gun battles in the streets for control of the liquor trade, have given way to criminal combinations and other more subtle ways of operating. Since the massacre of "Dutch" Schultz and several of his henchmen in a Newark tavern in October, 1935, there have been relatively few underworld murders performed in the accepted gangland fashion. This does not mean that predatory crime is on the wane, but merely that it has found a more efficient manner of operation.

Recently two important criminal investigations have been held in New York demonstrating both the truth of Mr. Hoover's contention of political corruption and the less spectacular methods now used by the underworld. One was the case of commercialised vice involving Charles (Lucky) Luciano in New York County, and the other, the so-called Drukman case in Brooklyn. In both cases, through malfeasance or misfeasance, the regularly constituted prosecuting officials failed to act, and to obtain convictions it was necessary for the Governor of the State to appoint not only special prosecutors, but investigators. Luciano, whose criminal record covered the 20 years of his adult life, had consistently evaded any punishment more drastic than brief jail sentences, a beneficiary of political favouritism. For years he was known to the initiated as a powerful gang overlord, controlling interests in numerous rackets. He was a familiar figure at Saratoga and other horse-racing resorts, and lived at the best hotels in New York. To the general public, however, he was scarcely known. It was said that he deprecated the extensive publicity accorded Al Capone and other racketeers of the prohibition era, and preferred to remain anonymous. He might have remained so had not an alert special prosecutor, Thomas E. Dewey, investigated his activities with startling results. Luciano was found to be the guiding genius of a vast vice organisation, the annual return of which was 12,000,000 dollars. In a campaign of violence and intimidation he had forced the operators of dozens of disorderly houses to pay him a weekly tribute of half their receipts. Those refusing to join the "syndicate" were beaten and stabbed. His organisation extended beyond the business of vice itself into the courts and politics generally. He was sentenced to from 20 to 50 years in prison. Eight of his associates were sentenced to shorter terms.

"LOAN SHARK."

The case of Samuel Drukman demonstrated the obstruction to justice afforded by corrupt prosecuting officials. Drukman was a gambler and reputedly involved in the "loan shark" racket, a leader of which was his brother-in-law, Meyer Luckman. A year or more ago, as evidence in court later revealed, Luckman and several henchmen decided to rid themselves of Drukman, whom they believed to be stealing from their common funds. One day police were told by an unidentified informant over the telephone that a murder was being done in a certain garage. Officers rushed to the scene and broke into the building. In the back seat of an automobile was the battered body of Drukman, and near by were Luckman and two of his relatives in the act of removing blood from their hands and clothing. The Drukman case developed into one of the most serious scandals in recent Brooklyn police history.

The killing of Drukman received little publicity, and it was not until months later that reformers insisted upon the case being reopened. Then it was revealed that Luckman and his associates had been duly brought before the grand jury, but, on the report of the prosecuting attorney that sufficient evidence was lacking, the three had been discharged. The blood-stained clothes, which were not deemed to be evidence, were returned to their owners. On the pleas of numerous citizens the district attorney of Brooklyn was superseded by a special prosecutor. This officer produced sufficient evidence to have the three men indicted. They were found guilty and sentenced to long terms in prison. The case was far from ended, however, as the special prosecutor was empowered to investigate the failure of the regular prosecuting officials to press the case.

DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM

The Democratic platform directed attention to the success of the Federal Government in dealing with crimes coming within its jurisdiction and promising continuation of that activity. Although the basic problems of crime in America doubtless involve the strengthening of district police and court administration, and the arousing of the political consciousness of the citizens of district areas, the apprehension of criminals and the punishment of crime on its widest and most dangerous front must for a long time require an authority of broader jurisdiction—the Federal Government. It is not easy to make the civic consciousness of a nation such as ours more sensitive quickly. Once this consciousness is sufficiently rapid in its response to right and wrong, the problem of crime would assume a true proportion in the life of the people—as, say, at present in Great Britain. But the process in this respect will have to be slow and minute—in a word, evolutionary. It will be a century before America is as law-abiding as, say, Australia, with its immediate British heritage of blood as well as institutions. In the meantime, the lesson afforded by the success of the G-men has aroused the thinking public to the need for strengthening the public conscience. Talk of a Scotland Yard for America went on for 10 years before it became a reality. Now a citizen anywhere in the land need only remove the receiver of his telephone and ask for National 7117 to communicate immediately with the Bureau of Identification of the United States Department of Justice, and to put into motion a very efficient police machine.

America's Oldest House

TERCENTENARY EVENT

More than 800 descendants of a Briton named Jonathan Fairbanks recently gathered at Dedham, Massachusetts, U.S.A., to celebrate the tercentenary of what they claim is the oldest house in the United States.

It was built in 1636 by Fairbanks himself, who had the oak sent out from England.

Arm in arm his 800 descendants are now to parade round the house led by Mrs. Doris Fairbanks, of New York City.

TENT AS MEETING-PLACE

The house was built by Fairbanks three years after he went to Boston from England, in 1642 and in 1854 wings were added on to it to accommodate the families of his married sons.

A big circus tent was put up beside the old house to provide a meeting-place for the army of

LORD BALFOUR'S LOVE STORY DISCLOSED

Delayed Proposing Till Too Late

WHY HE REMAINED SINGLE

Why Earl Balfour never married is disclosed in the first of the two volumes of his biography, published recently.
It is the story of a man who, though regarding a woman as "the embodiment of strength and spirit," delayed asking her to marry him until death robbed him of the opportunity.
He was dazed by the blow, so dazed that he would wonder aimlessly about the streets of London, not caring whether he went.
The author of the biography, Mrs. Edgar Dugdale, is a niece of Lord Balfour, and the biography is one of those marked by long and close contact of writer and subject.
She tells the story of his unhappy love affair with May Lyttelton, sister of the Lyttelton brothers of tennis and cricket fame, and niece of Mrs. Gladstone.
He met her at a ball given by the Gladstones at Hawarden. She was 20, he a year or two older. May Lyttelton was "not beautiful in any strict sense, built on a large scale, with masses of shining hair, and brown eyes wide set."
They were close friends for some years, during which May Lyttelton became engaged to a young man, who died. May herself fell ill and died when Balfour was on the point of asking her to marry him.
He then learned for certain what her feelings for himself had been, and he reproached himself bitterly for not having been more decided.
"May was to him the embodiment of strength and spirit," said her sister. "The news of her death staggered him to the last degree. He has told me he walked for hours about the London streets—where, he never knew." He asked to have placed in the coffin his mother's emerald ring.
Balfour was in public life more than half a century. His career linked the days of Gladstone and Disraeli with the Great War and after.
The book (Arthur James Balfour, by his niece, Blanche E. C. Dugdale, Vol. I, Hutchinson) appears at a moment when one subject associated with Balfour's name is in the news.
Mrs. Dugdale describes the first meeting between Balfour and Dr. Chaim Weizmann, the Zionist leader. It took place 11 years before the Balfour Declaration of 1917, which pledged Britain to the establishment of a Jewish National Home in Palestine.

SCOTTISH UPRISING

Balfour's Government had fallen, and he was losing East Manchester. He met Weizmann in the hurry-bury of his election headquarters in a hotel.
"Balfour's interest in the Jews and their history was lifelong," says the author. "It originated in the Old Testament training of his mother (sister of Lord Salisbury) and in his Scottish upbringing."
His own Government, through Joseph Chamberlain as Colonial Secretary, had made an offer to the Zionist Jews of land for settlement in East Africa. They refused it, and Balfour keenly desired to know why.
His chairman in East Manchester was a Jew, Mr. Dreyfus, and he introduced him to Chaim Weizmann, who had recently settled in England and was lecturer in organic chemistry at the Victoria University.

JEWISH PATRIOTISM

The ex-Premier and Weizmann, two magnetic personalities, had a talk of an hour and a quarter. Weizmann's English was faulty. He related afterwards: "I began to sweat blood to make my meaning clear. I had an idea."
"I said: 'Mr. Balfour, if you were offered Paris instead of London, would you take it? Would you take Paris instead of London?'" He looked surprised. He said: "Jerusalem is our own! I said: 'That's true!'"
Balfour often spoke of the impression the conversation made on him. "It was from that talk with Weizmann that I saw that the Jewish form of patriotism was unique."

"LA VIE PARISIENNE"

The spirit of Paris, city of romantic dreams and gaiety, is brought to the screen in "La Vie Parisienne," which is showing at the King's Theatre. Produced by Nero Films, a French company, and adapted from "La Vie Parisienne," one of Offenbach's gayest and best operettas, "Parisienne Life" is a delightful cocktail of fun and enchanting music.

The story opens in 1900 on the closing night of the Paris Exhibition. Don Ramiro, a handsome and extremely rich Brazilian, takes a tearful leave of Liane, the reigning beauty of the theatre, before returning to his wife and son in Brazil. He vows he will come back to Paris to resume this idyllic affair.

He does, but not until 1935, bringing his lovely grand-daughter, Helenita, Liane has slipped into the obscurity of retirement. Ramiro, determined to recapture the joys of his youth, enters into a hectic round of pleasure. Stay in at the same hotel is Jacques de Lambrun, a young business man of romantic intentions. He enters Helenita's bedroom in error and from this unconventional meeting a warm friendship develops.

Don Joao, Helenita's father, arrives in Paris to take her and her grandfather home. Jacques and Helenita ask permission to marry but Don Joao sternly forbids any such project. Ramiro takes a hand, and with the help of his old friends, succeeds in making his son the laughing-stock of Paris. The young lovers are united and everyone is happy again.

Rapid direction and effervescent acting keep the fun moving. The music and dancing, including, of course, the famous "Can-Can," are quite out of the ordinary and prove a pleasing relief from the cacophony of jazz and rhythmic tappings.

The acting honours are shared by Conchita Montenegro, Nell Hamilton, and Max Dearly, the well known French comedian. Excellent support is given by Carol Goodner, Eva Moore and Austin Trevor.

"SONG AND DANCE MAN"

There have been five or six really great backstage musicals made since 1927—some of them had great stars, some had outstanding song hits, but none of them have had a story like "Song and Dance Man," the new Fox picture which is now playing at the Majestic Theatre.

When George M. Cohan wrote the story he took the very heart of Broadway and put it into a play. Now, the screen version enhanced with new songs, laughs and pathos is even more entertaining than the stage play was years ago.

Paul Kelly has the title role and is co-featured with Claire Trevor. The supporting cast which is headed by Michael Whalen includes Ruth Donnelly, James Burke and Lester Matthews.

"Song and Dance Man," which was produced by Sol M. Wurtzel and directed by Allan Dwan, features four new song numbers all written by Sidney Clare and Lew Pollack.

NEWS FLASHES

Columbia Studios Busy

With eight feature picture before the cameras or on the threshold of production and five more in the editing stages, Columbia Studios to-day reached a peak in its imposing current schedule. Bing Crosby's starring production, "Pennies From Heaven," entered its fifth week of filming under the direction of Norman McLeod with Emanuel Cohen as producer. Madge Evans, Edith Fellows, Donald Meek and others constitute an imposing supporting cast.

Dorothy Arzner, Hollywood's only woman director, completed six weeks work on the picture of "Craig's Wife" with Rosalind Russell, John Boles and Billie Burke in the top roles.

"The Man Who Lived Twice" nears completion of its course with Ralph Bellamy, Isabel Jewell and Marian Marsh heading the cast under the direction of Harry Lachman.

D. Ross Lederman's "Alibi For Murder" is a day ahead of schedule at the end of its second week with Marguerite Churchill and William Gargan featured. Frank Capra's greatly discussed filmization of the James Hilton best seller, "Lost Horizon," starring Ronald Colman with Edward Everett Horton.

"HELLO" GIRLS

Three pretty employees of the Southern California Telephone Company were pressed into service as motion picture actresses.

Important telephone switchboard sequences in Columbia's "Craig's Wife," being directed by Dorothy Arzner with Rosalind Russell, John Boles and Billie Burke in the cast, necessitated absolute technical accuracy, for much of the plot hinges on the scenes.

Chief operator Crete Herlitz, Supervisor Edna Meyer and Bernice Desmond, employed in the Hollywood Office of the telephone company, were recruited for the filming and conducted themselves as veteran actresses.

None had ever visited a studio before or donned greasepaint.

GENIUS WILL OUT

The histrionic talent that Marguerite Churchill possesses was recognized when the Columbia actress, currently filming in Columbia's "Alibi For Murder," was only fourteen years old. She was awarded the Winthrop Ames Scholarship at 14, and the Otto H. Kahn scholarship at 15.

MAN CLUB

Hollywood's most exclusive organization has drawn up papers of incorporation along with by-laws, and all the rest of the necessary paraphernalia. The group bears the imposing title "The Alumni of Mount Vernon High School of New York City."

Chester Morris is president and Lionel Stander is vice-president. There are no other members.

"BAR 20 RIDES AGAIN"

It's "Hopalong Cassidy" time again at the Alhambra Theatre where Paramount's new six-gun drama "Bar 20 Rides Again" opens to-day, with William Boyd and Jimmy Ellison riding and shooting it out with the most sinister villain of the series.

This time "Hopalong" leads the boys of the "Bar 20" against a shrewd, unprincipled guerrilla who answers to the name of "Nevada" and whose main diversions are rustling cattle and cheating at cards.

This is the third in the "Hopalong Cassidy" series and finds the three cowboys musketeers of the first two—Cassidy, Johnny Nelson and Red Connors—in the saddle. They ride into the Snake Butte country to avenge their rancher-friend, Jim Arnold of the SV who has been victimized by "Nevada" and his marauding band.

The picture is paced with swift action. The boys of the "Bar 20" ride as they have never ridden before. After the climax which comes when they trail the rustlers to their lair in the hills, furnishes one of the most blazing gun battles in the history of Western films.

Further compliments need not be handed to the players who have already been seen in the series. But two new ones must be mentioned, Harry Worth as "Nevada," a sleek, suave villain with a Napoleon complex, and Jean Rouverol, as the victimized rancher's daughter, each adds vitality to the story.

Like its predecessors of the series "Bar 20 Rides Again" was Both attended the Manhattan high school long before they dreamed of coming to the film capital. The association was formed when conversation on the set of Columbia's "They Met in A Taxi" revealed that they are the only two graduates of the school in pictures.

KIDDIES DELIGHT

Three hundred and twenty-five Hollywood school kiddies had childhood dreams fulfilled recently when they not only attended a circus sideshow free of charge, but in addition, were paid to do it!

Several sequencers in Columbia's "Pennies from Heaven" starring Bing Crosby with Edith Fellows, Madge Evans and others, use a carnival setting and at the studio ranch a complete circus unit was installed for a week's engagement.

With more than a hundred and fifty adults working on the set as visitors to the circus, the three hundred and twenty-five children were adding real heart-felt enjoyment to the occasion.

Sword-swallowers, fire eaters, trapeze performers, freaks and all the sideshow trimmings were present in abundance at their entertaining tasks and with soda pop, peanuts and all the childhood edibles being freely dispensed, the kiddies had a complete holiday and were paid to do it!

EXPERT FASHION ADVICE

"A business woman can be as glamorously dressed this Fall as a movie star if she selects her costumes with as much good judgment, thought and care," declares Ernest Dryden, one of Hollywood's best known style designers.

Now engaged in preparing Irene Dunne's wardrobe for her forthcoming Columbia picture, "The-ora Goes Wild," Dryden advises a business girl to first select a smart tailored suit that can be transformed into a two-occasion costume by a simple of accessories. A coloured blouse, a smart leather belt, walking shoes, a sport hat and sturdy leather gloves describe this suit for general utility. Add a white satin or crepe blouse, a handsome rhinestone neck clip, suede gloves and shoes and a trick chapeau and this suit goes to informal dinner and the theatre.

Dryden urges the business woman to select simple sheer wool frocks that are made distinctive and charming by the addition of smart accessories such as a multiple string of pearls, metal or paillette collars and cuffs, a wide, wide novelty belt and the like. The designer warns against cheap furs and suggest a plain a plain tailored topcoat, to which you may add a fur neck-piece if Santa Claus hears your heart's deepest yearning. For formal Dryden suggests black, as black will forever play the leading role in smart fashion.

"THE MURDER OF DR. HARRIGAN"

Many new faces appear in the First National production "The Murder of Dr. Harrigan," which opens to-day at the Queen's Theatre.

In the cast, Kay Linaker, new Broadway "find" plays her first screen role as the leading woman opposite Ricardo Cortez.

Martha Tibbets, Anita Kerry and Joan Blair, all recent graduates from the stage into screen work, were taking their first major picture parts.

Robert Strange, who played the part of one of the victims in the mystery, is a veteran of Broadway and has played with important stage companies for many years in Chicago and on the road. Yet he is playing his first screen part in "The Murder of Dr. Harrigan."

The picture is woven around a new anesthetic which the head of a drug company is trying to claim as his own formula. In unweaving this plot, the head of the drug company vanishes into thin air before an operation, and the doctor is found dead with a surgical knife in his chest.

There is tense action and drama in this picture with no less than eight suspects. A man with a nervous disorder and a diplomat are the victims of a queer comedy of errors relieving the tension by their hilarious comedy. The roles are played by Johnny Arthur and Don Barclay, famous stage comedians.

"PREVIEW MURDER MYSTERY"

With a motion picture studio as its background, and with a cast of Hollywood favourites to give it authenticity, "The Preview Murder Mystery," which opens to-day at the Star Theatre, offers audiences a double-barreled treat—an exciting mystery story, and a glimpse behind-the-scenes in the world's movie capital.

Reginald Denny, Frances Drake, Gail Patrick, Rod LaRoque, George Barbier, Ian Keith, Conway Tearle and Jack Mulhall head the cast of "The Preview Murder Mystery" and all the action of the story takes place in a movie studio as cameras grind on the production of a feature.

Beginning at the preview of a picture, when the star is found murdered, a series of gruesome killings ensues, involving actors, directors and studio workers. Under the very noses of the police, a fiend goes about his bloody business, taking a toll of movie workers and throwing the entire studio into a frenzy of fear. How he is finally run down provides a breath-taking climax.

Robert Florey directed the film. A Paramount production.

TAUGHT WITHOUT TEARS

So the Chinese are to educate their illiterate millions by aid of the cinema!

It seems a shorter cut to knowledge than the old method of learning by heart all the works of Confucius. There is no need to be able to read or write. Education without tears has at last arrived.

Soon the Chinese coolie, with Hollywood's aid, will re-live the world's history. As Rizzo said to Mary Queen of Scots: "Baby, I could fall for you in a big way."

FALSE PRETENCES

Army Deserters Bound Over

MEAL WITHOUT PAYMENT

Two deserters from the 154th Cantonese Army were brought before Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Court yesterday, for obtaining food by false pretences from a stall in Argyle Street.

The defendants were Mak Yau, 25, To Wai Man, 26, both unemployed.

Det.-Sergt. Davis stated that the defendants were deserters from the Cantonese Army, and were non-combatant ammunition carriers. They deserted because their pay was in arrears.

The defendants had a meal at the stall, and when the stall holder asked for the money, they said that they had a friend in Bulkeley Street, and that he would pay for them. The defendants said that when they could locate him he would make arrangements for their return to the country. The friend was not been found. It was a long time since they last saw him.

The defendants came from Lim Chan to Kong Mun where they obtained a free passage to Hong Kong.

They were each bound over and will be sent back to Canton.

JAPANESE FINED

Rickshaw Incident In Wanchai

VEHICLE DAMAGED

Baba Haisutaro, 40-year-old Japanese laundryman, residing at 170, Wanchai Road ground floor appeared at the Central Magistracy before W. Schofield yesterday, on three charges.

The first charge was that he had failed to pay for rickshaw hire; the second that he damaged the vehicle; and third, that he behaved in a disorderly manner at the Wanchai police station by shouting and jumping out of the prisoner's dock.

Sgt. J. Galvin said that the defendant engaged the rickshaw at Jaffe Road near Lockhart Road at 1 a.m., on Monday.

Arriving at Wanchai Road, near Mallory Street, defendant told the coolie that he was drunk, so he was asked to alight.

It was then that defendant struck complainant on the head, and grabbed his neck.

He was allowed to ride in the rickshaw then, and was taken to the police station, where he tore off the number plate from the rickshaw.

In reply to the charges defendant alleged his purse had been stolen from him by the rickshaw coolie, so he could not pay him.

He added that he did not damage the rickshaw, nor did he misbehave at the police station.

The case was remanded until October 8 at 11.45 a.m.

Bail was allowed at $100.

OPIUM FOUND ON JUNK

Leung Shui Ho, master of a fishing boat, was charged before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Magistracy yesterday for the possession of opium.

Sub-Insp. J. Dredge said that on October 5 at 9 a.m., he received information to watch for a junk entering Hong Kong at Tin Wan, near Island Road.

He boarded a fishing junk and found in the centre hold four large and three small tins of opium, with a large quantity of raw opium wrapped in cloth.

Defendant stated that he did not know what were the goods stored on his boat.

Mr. Schofield fined defendant $5,000 or six months on two charges, and sentenced him to six months' hard labour in addition.

An application for the confiscation of the opium and the junk was made by S. L. Dredge, and was granted.

Det.-Sergt. J. Hunter stated that between January 13 to September 25, the defendant received from 18 different shops payments of money which he did not enter in the book, and never mentioned anything to the complainant when he returned to the shop.

When the complainant asked for the money, the defendant said that the shops had had business and could not pay.

Being in need of money for the Moon Cake festival, she telephoned various shops that had not paid their bills and was told that the defendant had collected the money.

The defendant was arrested in Foo Kong Road, Kowloon City on September 27.

The defendant was sentenced to three months' hard labour.

Society For Protection Of Children

score now that they know how to clean them, and how they can feed the children themselves now that soup is added to the rice bowl. So the good news spreads, and for every mother who actually comes to us, ten or twenty more feed themselves and their children a little better, and the waste of life and health is a little lessened, and with it the economic burden of a C. 3 population. As I said above, even the better class mothers and children are gaining by the more accurate knowledge of child feeding in China.

Education of the children is our concern too. They will find the three R's as useful as children in the West find them when they come to earn a livelihood. So too they need, as well as elementary hygiene, care of the body and sanitary rules, a vocational training that may enable them to take part in the struggle for existence and not be defeated by it. Thanks to the Society many absolutely destitute children are now receiving vocational training at the St. Louis Industrial School and the various other suitable institutions which already exist.

VOCATIONAL TRAINING

There are types of children for whom specialised vocational training is particularly necessary, and in them the Society takes a very lively interest. A deaf and dumb child was brought to the Society for help some time ago. The Director voiced his regret that in a civilised community there was no school or home where such unfortunate children could be taught. Soon after the School for the Deaf and Dumb was founded and it is now giving the chance of a happy useful life to many of them.

Blind girls are provided for at the home at Pokfulam but there is nowhere in the Colony where a blind boy may learn a trade or be cared for. He must wander the streets and gain his living by beggary or other even less desirable means.

We can give him food and medical treatment, but we cannot put him into a home and see that his future is free from the menace of starvation or exploitation. I mention this as a particularly urgent need of children here where blindness is so tragically common, and must be so, as long as ignorance and dirt threaten their lives and health.

UNSPEAKABLE CONDITIONS

There is, as I say, no home in the Colony for blind boys, but I should like to take this opportunity of publicly acknowledging the Society's gratitude to the St. John's Ambulance for recently taking into the Chung Chau Hospital at the Society's request a blind boy of nine years who had been subjected to exploitation under unspeakable conditions.

Again, a crippled child, a deformed child, an incurably diseased child is by no means a rare sight in our streets. The police can bring such a child before a magistrate who can make an order that he shall be cared for in a suitable institution... but gentlemen, there is no suitable institution. None of our hospitals are willing or indeed able to take incurable children—they have not the space. No school exists where they may be trained. So these children too must roam the streets in hunger and pain and misery. It is not their fault. It is the fault of poverty, hunger and ignorance. If you or I become incurably ill or incapacitated it is not our fault either and our friends lavish care and kindness on us, and we can find shelter. Must we refuse it to these little children? Is it not a reproach to the Colony that we have no place where the crippled or incurable child can be cared for?

Two subjects have been prominent in the papers lately, housing conditions and drug addiction. In both these our Society has been interested and played an active part in trying to relieve the Colony from another deplorable menace. From its earliest years the Society has busied itself with research into living conditions and housing, and its inspectors have gained for us a mass of most important information as to slums, overcrowding and economic conditions of the working people. That information is valuable and is open for the use of the public and of the administration.

HEROIN

About heroin, we are very gravely concerned, as drug addiction threatens children with starvation. The parent who is an addict will stop at nothing to get the drug he craves. Misery must result from the poor heredity entailed by such vices. Our Committee has been using every means in its power urging by word and pen and influence that immediate measures be taken, before it is too late, to save our Colony from the fate of Egypt before the days of Russell Pasha's epic achievement. It is to our material interest too to save our children from the results of drug addiction and have a healthy rising generation, employable and contented, not poor travesties of humanity—a misery to themselves and a danger to future generations.

There is an old and fatuous argument against offering free food shelter and care to our poor children. It is said that if we do these things the Colony will be flooded with people from the interior looking for something or nothing. This has not been our experience. And if it were, if a family's need was so dire that it would come from the heart of Kwangung in the hope of getting a tin or two of free milk for the babies, why then gentlemen, in God's name let them come. It is surely our duty in this international port and as members of two Societies which know no limits of race or creed, to forget petty provincialism and from our sufficiency to give that tin.

COLONY'S PROSPERITY

Our Colony is an open port of entry, and thanks to that it has prospered; labour is cheap, and so our own living is cheap and easy. The labourers who flock in have helped us to thrive; surely in times of depression when employment is uncertain we must remember the needs of those to whom our prosperity has been so largely due. If the Colony were not kept open, our costs of living would increase. We keep it open and so we must take responsibility for those who come to it, and make it what it is.

On a lower plane, may I remind you that if our Society is not supported, the inevitable alternative will be public relief and that will do our work at a very much higher cost. Public administration is always very expensive in salaries, premises and general running costs. Our officials ask for no salary, our rents and running costs are a negligible fraction of our budget. And we can and will do this work most gladly and wholeheartedly if the public continues to give, as it has done in the past, its generous support.

To an international body like the Rotary Club there is no need to speak of the importance, even of the duty, of every civilised man and woman thinking internationally. Terence said a long time ago, "Everything that is human is my business," and that is how Rotary thinks. Our Society says "Everything that concerns children is our business." Neither of us is bounded by barriers of nationality or religion or class. And it is our pride, May I, in concluding, quote from an international writer's international book, The Home of Mankind by Hendrik Van Loon:—"We are all fellow-passengers on the same planet and we are equally responsible for the happiness and well-being of the world in which we happen to live." The Society for the Protection of Children is trying to the limit of its means to accept its responsibility to the children of our Colony.

SPEAKER THANKED

Proposing a vote of thanks to the speaker, Hon. Sir Shouson Chow said: "As President of the Society for the Protection of Children it gives me particular pleasure to propose a vote of thanks to Mrs. Barker for her most interesting and informative address which will enable us and also enable the public to know the good work the Society is doing day by day for the poor children. Mrs. Barker in her address has covered the ground so fully; it would not be necessary to add further remarks. It remains for me to emphasise two points and one of these is the important matter of finance, for without money we can do nothing in this world. The work of the Society is being carried on by voluntary public subscriptions supplemented by a grant of $5,000 a year from the Government without whose assistance I really don't know how we could get on."

The speaker added that His Excellency was Patron of the Society and Lady Caldecott was the President of the Women's Auxiliary. (Applause).

Sir Shouson added: "I often wonder what we would do without the valuable cooperation of the ladies. If you look round the room you will find that every table is fully occupied and that is evidence of the popularity of Ladies' Day and I suggest to the Rotary Club that we should endeavour to have more Ladies' Days in future and invite more lady speakers on such occasions. I am sure there is plenty of talent among "the ladies in the Colony."

"I have been speaking about the fair sex and in spite of my youth I am still exceedingly fond of the ladies, irrespective of whether or not that fondness is reciprocated." (Laughter and applause).

Over Half Million Heroin Pills SIX CHINESE CHARGED

Charged with the possession of a large quantity of heroin pills at 163, Sai Yung Street, Tang Kam, 50, Leung Sik, 18, Yu Lai, 25, Chau Tung, 31, Chan Ho, and Leung Chun, 24, appeared before Mr. E. Himsforth at the Kowloon Police Court yesterday.

Mr. M. J. Abbott represented the Crown while Mr. M. A. da Silva defended Leung Sik, Chan Ho and Leung Chun, and Mr. C. Y. Kwan represented Tang Kam, Yu Lai and Chau Tung.

Mr. Abbott stated that when the premises were visited by revenue officers, they found 12 ozs. crude heroin, 4½ lbs. pink mass containing heroin and 130,000 heroin pills.

On September 9, about 10.10 a.m. acting on instructions R. O. Grimmett and some Chinese revenue officers went to 163 Sai Yung Street, and knocked on the door, and were admitted by Leung Sik.

There was a strong smell of heroin in the rooms, where the pills were drying. The first defendant was the principal tenant. The hands of all the defendants were stained with pink.

Mr. Abbott added that the 12 ozs. of crude heroin was sufficient to make 400,000 heroin pills. The 4½ lbs. of pink mass containing heroin was sufficient to make another 6,000 pills. The 54 lbs. of powder with addition of heroin water and dye could make a further 90,000 pills.

Evidence was heard after which the hearing was adjourned. The case is for committal.

Attack On Indian Woman

CHINESE COMMITTED FOR TRIAL

Assault with intent to rob was the charge preferred against Sam Shul yesterday at the Central Magistracy before Mr. W. Schofield. Defendant was committed for trial.

On September 25, defendant, with two others not in custody, was seen by Kartar Kaur, an Indian married woman, to run towards her across the roof of her dwelling at Ngan Mok Street.

It was her usual practice to cook chappatties on the roof, for her husband's meal, between noon and 1 p.m.

She was assaulted by the intruders, one of whom caught her by the shoulders and put a rope around her neck while another tried to tear the gold bangles off her wrist. During this time, she was dragged to the adjoining roof. She shouted for help, and her cries were heard by her sister-in-law, Jawala Devi, and a neighbour, Naranjan Singh, who came to her assistance.

Jawala Devi helped her while Naranjan Singh chased the robbers down stairs. In the street one of them, the defendant, was apprehended.

Abdul Karim, a passenger on a tram, alighted to assist Naranjan Singh while the latter gave chase to the others, who, however, escaped.

Sam Shul was taken to 15, Ngan Mok Street, where Kartar Kaur lived, where he was identified as one of the assailants. Together they went to the Bayview Police Station.

Dr. S. F. Cheung, of the Government Civil Hospital, examined the complainant and found bruises on her right wrist and elbow. He also found a swelling of her throat.

When charged the accused man said, "I have nothing to say. I know Ah Wa and Ah Tong, but I don't know where they live."

A. S. T. Madgwick, officer-in-charge of Bayview police station, went to the scene of the assault, where he found a small piece of wood wound round with wire, and two pairs of slippers.

When the defendant was arrested he did not have on any shoes.

PRIZE WINNING LETTER

U. S. Election And Women's Vote

(BY "STILL")

It is a far cry from those ancient days when women had to stay at home to attend to their knitting while the men had everything their own way.

Woman's emancipation has gone ahead with such rapidity since the World War that no one, least of all the gentle sex, need admit that they are passing away in innocuous desuetude.

Women even vote to-day—and thereby hang their tails!

The other day, Mr. William C. Kelley, of 19, Gramplan Road, Kowloon, was the recipient of news from his sister, Mrs. Edward A. Green, of Brooklyn, New York, that she had won a contest conducted by the "New York Tribune."

Because of the proximity of the presidential election in the United States of America, the paper asked for contributions on the vital question: "What is your reason why women should vote?"

Mrs. Green's contribution was voted by the editors as the best of the hundreds of replies that were sent in.

"Bill" Kelley, as he is familiarly known to his host of friends in the Colony, is the popular manager of the assembly plant of Wallace Harper and Co. Ltd. Kowloon. Mrs. Green's letter follows:

"I hope I do not overestimate myself when I say I feel that I represent the average woman voter. Most women are practical and naturally wish to make the most of every dollar. That seems to be the best contribution the stay-at-home woman can make to justify her being."

Being practical, she has not forgotten the chaos of the last administration. Neither has she forgotten the worry, fear of loss of jobs by both men and women, knowing well if one job were lost there was no other to be had.

Now that our beloved President has changed all that, women realize that they do not have to delve very deeply into politics to know that such a man should remain in the White House—Mrs. Edward A. Green.

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL

Budget Debate To-day

A meeting of the Legislative Council will be held this afternoon at 2.30 p.m., and will be featured by the Budget debate.

The Attorney General will move: That the by-law under the heading "Dangerous and Offensive Trades" made by the Urban Council under section 3 of the Public Health (Sanitation) Ordinance, 1935, on the 18th day of August, 1935, be approved.

The Attorney General will move the First reading of:

"A Bill to amend further the Coinage Offences Ordinance, 1865."

"A Bill to amend the Currency Ordinance, 1935."

"A Bill to amend the Stamp Duties Management Ordinance, 1911."

The Colonial Secretary will move the Second reading of:

"A Bill to apply a sum not exceeding Twenty-five million five hundred and eight thousand two hundred and sixty-nine dollars to the Public Service of the year 1937."

MOTOR SUMMONS

D. A. Webb, of Messrs. Lane, Crawford Ltd., was fined by Mr. W. Schofield yesterday at the Central Magistracy, when he appeared on a summons for driving without a licence.

Defendant admitted that he had never had a licence in the Colony, but he had had one in Great Britain.

Mr. Schofield said that a British licence would be of no value in Hong Kong, and fined him $10.

THREE CHILDREN IN EVERY FAMILY

Are Needed To Maintain Nation

SAYS SIR LEONARD HILL

The birth rate is falling to such an extent that shortly the schools will no longer be filled, and there will be a great excess of old people, said Sir Leonard Hill recently, in his presidential address to the Sanitary Inspectors' Conference at Harrogate.

A nation is decadent which considers a motor car a greater possession than a child, he continued. The physiological need of many women is unsatisfied if they do not bear children.

The proper number of children in each family to maintain the nation is three, not one, and while the limitation of large families is wise, the wide prevention of any children must lead to national disaster.

IS A RELIGIOUS REVIVAL IMMINENT?

Historian and philosopher are in the exercise of their functions expected to take cognisance of all available human phenomena. If life is to be seen full-orbed, every formative influence must be assigned its due place. Even the experience which is essentially individual ceases to be exclusively so when it becomes sufficiently aggregative to make impact on contemporary society and the course of history. Down the ages religion has done these two things. Irrespective, therefore, of any personal attitude towards it, religion calls for appraisal as a factor in civilisation. That growth is in spirits is a principle operating throughout all biological nature. It seems equally active in religion. But in religious terminology the spirit is classified as a revival. And within the Christian organisation many recognised authorities have acknowledged that "the church lives on revivals and from revival to revival." Even in the judgment of the detached observer the facts seem to confirm the aphorism.

Regarded strictly as a subdivision of history, the Christian church had its origin in a great spiritual surge which has passed into verbal currency as Pentecost. Its influence permeated Asia Minor, then Europe. While the forces of barbarism were engaged in these exploits, which won for that period the title of the Dark Ages, the church kept alight the flame of religion and idealism. In Britain the more ancient forms of religion were superseded by the Christian. Throughout the centuries revivals were recurrent. John Richard Green describes "the first of those great religious movements which England was to experience." At the end of the eleventh century, and under the reviving power of the members of the Cistercian order, the historian says that "a new spirit of devotion awoke; it penetrated alike to the home of the noble and of the trader; London took its full share in the revival." Later the itinerant preaching friars evangelised rural England. In the following century religious life was again revived by means of Wycliffe and his Poor Preachers. The Reformation, the Wesleyan Revival, the Evangelical Revival in the Church of England, the Oxford Movement and, still for some a vivid living memory, the revival associated with the name of Dwight L. Moody—all these, quite apart from their personal spiritual results, have exercised a powerful influence on British national life. "The thing that hath been, it is that which shall be." The dictum is accredited to Solomon. It is of special significance at this juncture. Obviously religious revivals are recurrent. Is one now imminent?

In many directions there are symptoms favourable to an affirmative answer. In the course of reviewing a prior survey of the state of religion in Britain from 1870 to 1914, a contributor to the latest issue of the "Quarterly Review" continues the analysis to the present day. He expresses the opinion that in few periods of British history has organised

KING'S MEMORIAL

Project Criticised

"TOO UTILITARIAN"

[To the Editor, "Hong Kong Daily Press."]

Dear Sir,
As one who has perused your leading article on the project for playing fields as Hong Kong's memorial to our late King, I must confess that I do not agree with your contention that a memorial so utilitarian can ever worthily enshrine the Colony's love for a truly great Ruler.

The provision of playing fields is a matter for Government, just as is the provision of pipe-lines, roads and other public works.

To my way of thinking, a beautiful memorial after the manner of a shrine, would be the most appropriate form for the memorial to our late monarch.

Yours, etc.

religion gone through a more discouraging time than in the years between the end of the war and 1930. Throughout the war the church's attitude was misunderstood; subsequently secular rationalism was proudly aggressive; hedonistic philosophy considered itself vindicated by the new discoveries in psychology. There was intellectual uneasiness within the church itself, not because of any disloyalty to eternal truth but because of the temporary difficulty of co-relating that truth to man's ever-widening scientific knowledge. Since 1930 that set of circumstances has very definitely given place to another. Thoughtful men and women everywhere are looking out on the world with a sense of despair. It is a despair that scientist and psychologist are powerless to dispel. Throughout the war, the post-war depression and the present world ferment science and philosophy have by themselves seemed impotent. Wearied of tentative and invariably disappointing expedients, people are looking for some key solution which will be adequate to the world problems and satisfying to human souls. Without being conscious of it, many men are practising methods that are definitely, although not avowedly, religious. They are finding inspiration in the vision of a world permeated by a spirit not of selfishness but of service. Too many and numerous kindred movements have splendid records of essentially Christian work to their credit—records built up by men practical and hardheaded. Without employing the vocabulary of religion they are applying the message of religion. More definitely personal and religious, the Group Movement has within recent years proved itself a powerful spiritual force. It has achieved striking results among the peoples of some forty different nations and with individuals of the most diverse type. The centenary of Dwight L. Moody falls in February next, and already throughout Britain elaborate preparations are being made for its celebration. They are being made in the confident belief that the one thing the whole world is needing and awaiting is a repetition on an international scale of that mighty evangelical experience. Many people are instinctively critical of everything highly emotional, and particularly of excess emotion in religion.

But, provided that the new evangelism has that intellectual content which has accumulated from the positive ascertainties of science, the higher criticism and the clarified speculations of philosophy, there would appear to be no reason to doubt that a genuine religious revival would meet with a widespread response, and enlist adherents from many

MORE FAMILIES, BUT SMALLER

How Overcrowding Is Intensified

A FALSE STANDARD

More, but smaller, families are intensifying the housing problem, according to Mr. George Blinn, Chief Sanitary Inspector, Liverpool, who spoke at the Sanitary Inspectors' Association Conference at Harrogate recently.

Inadequate supply of houses at rents which the working-classes could pay was set by Mr. Blinn at the head of the list of causes of the overcrowding evil, which, he declared, had been considerably intensified by the increase in the number of families.

The tendency towards an increasing population of small families and a decreasing population of larger families would continue.

He welcomed the Housing Act, 1935, as "the first real attempt to deal with this vast evil." But it was a serious blemish upon the new Act that it still permitted every room in a house, except a scullery or bath-room, to be counted for sleeping purposes.

Mr. George Laws, of Richmond, Surrey, said: "The results of the overcrowding survey following on the low standard adopted in the Act mean that for many years to come hundreds of thousands of families, unless they choose to live and sleep in kitchen-living rooms, must tolerate lack of privacy and decency in their family arrangements."

Figures revealed that no fewer than 380,000 families were on the verge of overcrowding, and if living rooms were not counted for sleeping purposes the number of overcrowded families would be 853,000 instead of the 341,554 given in the report.

"The ideal standard which should be enforced is the bedroom standard only," said Mr. Laws.

unsuspected quarters. Even while electing to stand apart, it is impossible to ignore the fact that hosts of men and women, young and old, are seeking to combine with their intellectual integrity a greater religious intensity. They are ripe for an old-fashioned revival, but in the fashion appropriate to the mode and outlook of their own generation. If ballasted and balanced with knowledge and sanity, such a revival might well lead to a clear revelation of a conviction that many have all along cherished in their heart—the conviction that the one complete and permanent solution to all human, national and international problems lies in a sincere revival of religion.

ELOCUTION AS AN AID TO ART

Interesting Lecture By Mr. Gerald Sydney

SUPPRESSION OF EMOTIONS

An appreciative audience attended the University Assembly Hall last night and listened to Mr. Gerald Sydney's address on "Elocution as an aid to Art," given under the auspices of the Hong Kong University Arts Association.

Mr. Sydney was ably assisted by Doris Blair (Soprano) well-known to ZBW listeners.

Mr. Cheng Yum Yue, Chairman of the Association, introduced the speaker who addressed the meeting as follows:

The title of my address this evening, "Elocution as an aid to Art" is rather unsatisfactory, as elocution is an art in itself. To tell you the truth, when I was considering what I wanted to say to you, I found that I should be drifting from one subject to another in a somewhat irresponsible manner and, for the life of me, I did not know what to call it. However, I think that we must first of all try and get the idea of what Art is, and what it isn't.

ART CLASSIFIED

The Arts have been classified (probably by someone who existed in the dark ages) under two headings which are still known as (1) the fine arts; by which is meant, I presume, those arts which are purely decorative luxuries, not necessities, such as music, painting, sculpture, poetry, and so on. (2) The useful arts, by which we can only understand all skilled workmanship which has for its aim the production of things useful and necessary.

Cooking is an art which is placed by some people in the first category and by others in the second. Hairdressing would be difficult to place, and so would chiropody, or the art of dressing the toe-nails. But it seems to me that such things as shoe-making, brick-laying, or any form of work which requires skill, might be included amongst the useful arts. Architecture is supposed to combine beauty with usefulness, and might reasonably be called the art of beauty!

MISLEADING

However, I consider that these two classifications are most misleading. I refuse to believe that anything of rare beauty can be without use. On the contrary, it must be both useful and necessary in a world of rather drab environments. If a sermon is useful in proportion to its refining influence upon the soul, what shall we say of such masterpieces as Milan Cathedral, a Beethoven symphony, or Shakespeare's "King Lear"? Is the beauty of a rose useless when it fills our hearts with tenderness? Suppose all the beauties of Nature were suddenly to be obliterated and destroyed, and the functions of earth were performed amidst ugly and repulsive surroundings—man could not exist—we should become a race of suicidal maniacs. No, the long I think about it, the more convinced I become, that what we know as the fine arts, are not merely decorative, are not only useful, but are real necessities.

USEFUL ARTS

With regard to the useful arts, I don't think anyone would admit as an art that which makes no appeal to our sense of beauty at all. An ordinary kitchen stove or a football boot can hardly be accepted as works of art, though the latter may be in a sense uplifting! Let us say then that an artist is one who combines exceptional skill with an inherent and uncontrollable leaning to beauty.

Thomas Carlyle once defined genius as "an infinite capacity for taking pains." I cannot think that he meant this definition to be taken seriously; its superficiality is too obvious. I think it was a satirical remark directed against those who imagine that an inherent and uncontrollable leaning towards beauty is sufficient in itself to enable them to call themselves artists—without the exceptional skill. The artistic temperament has been called "the endowment of the devil." But it is only dangerous when the possessor of it has failed to produce any artistic work, because he has been too lazy to acquire the skill; and to acquire the skill you must have the capacity for taking pains; and this capacity should be infinite because there is no limit to the heights to which genius can rise.

The more your skill increases, the clearer and more articulate will the expression of beauty become. And here let me advise you young students that, whatever art or profession you are engaged upon, you should concentrate all your energies and powers upon your technique. Don't worry about your talent or genius—ignore it; that will take care of itself. The great character actress, Miss Marie Tempest, said that it took her seven years to walk across the stage! That's the outlook. Dr. Richard Strauss, one of the greatest of modern composers was once conducting a world famous orchestra in a programme of his own compositions. The only item not written by himself was Mozart's Piano Concerto, which the orchestra had played hundreds of times. At the rehearsal he spent over two hours on the Mozart alone; finally he said "Gentlemen, I apologize for keeping you so long. It doesn't much matter how we play my works, but if we are going to play Mozart, we must try and do so as perfectly as we can." The members of the orchestra thought they could play Mozart standing on their heads, the genius thought otherwise. That, my friends, was an artist. I hope I have been able to convey to you my idea of what Art is or should be.

THE GREATEST OF ARTS

I am now going to consider especially the art of music—chiefly because it is the one that I know most about, and also because it is upheld as the greatest of the Arts, inasmuch as it has the most universal appeal. Now, music is an expression in sound of something that cannot possibly be expressed in words. You might reasonably ask "What is there to express that we cannot express in words?" Let me tell you young men that ordinary speech (in spite of the growth and development of language) is an extremely limited means of self-expression. When, as is often the case, it is carelessly used, it becomes an inaccurate translation of what you mean. To illustrate this, let me drift for a moment to the art of Poetry. Poetry is really a combination of literature and music.

REAL POETRY

H. G. Wells, in his "Outline of History," said of Shakespeare, that "he was a man of very sweet disposition, who turned every line he wrote into music." Arnold Bennett, writing of the poet Yeats, says "When I read the lines—'I will arise and go now, and go to Innisfree'—I know that Mr. Yeats is a great poet. But I cannot tell why." You will notice that Mr. Bennett, himself a master of language, was unable to explain in words what it was in these lines that caused him to realise their greatness. It was music! And if you consider any real poetry, you will find that it conveys infinitely more to you than the bare meaning of the words.

Listen to that magnificent artist John Gielgud who after seeing a production of King Lear said "It moved me so much that, after crying nearly all the time, I came out of the theatre exulting in the beauty of the play." What caused this emotion? The bare facts of the tragedy would not make a man cry. No. It was the stupendous, over-powering music which runs right through it.

It is the exquisite sound of the words. It is the expression in sound of what cannot possibly be expressed in words alone. It is music. But wait a minute! These are written words. They have no sound until they are spoken. So you see this long preamble does at last bring us to the question of Elocution which I shall touch on later. In the meantime I hope I have succeeded in indicating to you, however slightly, wherein the value of music lies.

HIDDEN EMOTIONS

In the work-a-day world in which we live, there is but little occasion or opportunity for the expression of our hidden emotions and ideals. Hidden indeed! For the environments in which we have our being, and the conventions of Society, force us to put a constant restraint upon the upward flights of the soul towards beauty. Among the British peoples especially, the suppression of the emotions has become almost a fetish. No wonder then (but what a tragedy) that these emotions of beauty, sympathy, kindness, love and charity, frequently become atrophied, sometimes indeed cease to exist in us altogether.

I like Robert Browning's delineation of the soul in its common place surroundings, as a scroll of manuscript tightly rolled up. However, if, after spending the greater part of our days in adding up figures, making shoes, or in any of those dull tasks with which the exigencies of life force us to occupy ourselves; if, after constantly keeping locked up in ourselves the best that is in us, for fear of Society's disapproval; if, we can find some quiet moments to drink in the beauty of music or any other art, and especially of that which transcends all art, the beauty of nature; then we can say with Browning—

"At length my soul smooth itself out, a long crumpled scroll."

"AN EAR FOR MUSIC"

Mr. Sydney concluded the first part of his address with a few hints on how to find the beauty in music and how to listen to it. He showed that all the greatest music was written for everybody, and not for a few over-cultured musicians. He deprecated the idea that some people were born with "an ear for music" and some without. It was, he said, merely a question of allowing the ear to get accustomed to certain sounds, a process which took longer with some people than others.

He pointed out that one of the chief reasons why some persons could not appreciate it was because they wanted to try and get some concrete meaning out of it. They wanted to translate it into words, instead of yielding themselves to its influence.

He finally suggested that if any supposedly non-musical person were to buy a record of any beautiful music and listen to it once a day without any particular effort or concentration he would grow fond of it and, if he then repeated the process with another record, and so on, he would be able in a comparatively short time, to find the beauty in most of the world's best music.

Mr. Sydney stressed the fact that in his remarks he had been referring solely to instrumental music. Song writing, as a creative art, was only an amplification of poetry and was, in nine cases out of ten, a dismal failure. Mr. Sydney then wound up his address with an explanation of the technicalities of elocution.

A hearty vote of thanks, proposed by Mr. T. A. Martin, President of the Association, was accorded to the speaker and to Doris Blair for their valuable contributions to the activities of the Association.

MADRID POPULACE GROWING RESTLESS

Indignation Against Authorities POLITICIANS SELECTED FOR ATTACK

Cortes President Rescued From Crowd

(“Hong Kong Daily Press” Special)

Burgos, October 6. Messages from Madrid state that the excitement of the population of the capital is rapidly growing and that the rising tide of indignation at what is considered the unsatisfactory attitude of the authorities is manifesting itself in a number of demonstrations as well as assaults on individual politicians.

It is reported that the President of the Cortes, Martinez Barrio, who was driving home from Parliament, was attacked by a furious crowd and only rescued with great difficulty by his bodyguard. Several persons are said to have been killed in the course of this affray.

DEFENCE PREPARATIONS

Further despatches from Madrid assert that a three-fold line of trenches have been dug around the city with a view to its defence and that the authorities have issued orders requiring all unemployed men to take part in the work of fortifying the capital. Those who refuse to obey the order will be treated as “public enemies” and executed accordingly.

The Madrid Government have now decided to prohibit the exportation not only of gold and silver either in coins or bars but practically of all cash under any shape or form.

The official gazette in Madrid has published a decree providing that nobody may henceforth take more than four pesetas with him when leaving the country.—Transocean News Service.

INSURGENTS CLOSING IN

Hendaye, Oct. 6. The insurgents are rapidly applying a strangle-hold on Madrid, according to a communique issued from their headquarters at Burgos. This claims that the Nationalists north of Toledo are within six miles of the Madrid-Alicante Railway, the capital's only remaining outlet and source of supply.—Reuter.

ANXIOUS POPULACE

Madrid, Oct. 6. Madrid's anxious populace was partially reassured last night by the Government's communique stating the loyalist forces had defeated an insurgent attack at Navalperal on the fringe of the Guadarrama Mountains, while a Barcelona communique claims the insurgent aerodrome north of Huesca has been captured.

The Government forces continue to bombard Huesca daily.—Reuter.

ATTACK ON MALAGA

Gibraltar, Oct. 5. Intense activity reported in the naval yards of Cadiz is regarded as a prelude to the long-expected land, sea and air attack upon Malaga by the insurgent forces in south Spain.

According to insurgent headquarters at Seville, the assault will be launched either Thursday or Friday.

Leading units of the insurgent fleet are concentrating at Cadiz, where anti-aircraft guns have been mounted on the cruisers Canarias, Republica and Almirante Cervera.

It is estimated that during the past ten days 16,000 troops, including Rifian Sharpshooters, have been landed at Cadiz, Jerez and Algeciras from various Moroccan towns.

In addition to troop movements by sea, Rif fighting men are being brought over to Spain by air at the rate of 70 an hour.

It is understood that 5,000 Moors, headed by the Rifian Sharpshooters, will form the advance guard in a series of attacks on Malaga, while the rear guard will consist of Foreign Legionnaires and levies from the Fascist volunteers.—Reuter.

ISOLATED IN MOUNTAIN FORTRESS

Insurgent Men And Families

TROOPS HURRYING TO RESCUE

Lisbon, Oct. 6. Two hundred and fifty insurgent men, women and children are isolated in a mountain fortress on one of the highest hills in Sierra Morena, twenty miles from Andujar.

They are surrounded by Government forces and are daily resisting attempts to dislodge them, thus emulating the feat of their comrades at Alcazar, though they have been cut off from communication with the outside world for nine days or longer.

The besieged include 150 Civil Guards with their families. The insurgent forces, who have been advised of the plight of the besieged by carrier pigeon message, are now hurrying to the rescue and have reached a point thirty miles distant.

In the meanwhile food is being conveyed to the besieged by air.—Reuter.

NEW REGIME IN SPAIN

Dealings With Foreign States

Rome, Oct. 6. The attitude of the Spanish Nationalist Government in Burgos towards international politics, was discussed in an interview with the special correspondent of the Turin paper “Stampa.” The Nationalist Foreign Minister, Yanguas, who already under Primo de Rivera occupied the Foreign Ministry, stated that the Nationalist Government was in no hurry to be recognised by the foreign states. The Nationalist Government seeks to pacify and restore order in Spain, and does not wish to embarrass the foreign Governments that have recognised the Madrid Government as only lawful representative of Spain, conformably with conditions which will not be changed until peace has been assured.

It is reported that it was Yanguas who persuaded the Spanish Government in 1928 to resign from the League.—Transocean News Service.

“EL GRECO” SAFE

(“Hong Kong Daily Press” Special) Burgos, Oct. 6. The world-famed masterpiece of “El Greco,” named the “Funeral of Count Orgaz,” which for centuries has been in the Museum of Toledo, and for which great anxiety had been felt, is now reported by the Nationalist authorities to be undamaged.—Transocean News Service.

PARIS JOURNAL'S ATTACK

Powerful Indictment Against Foreigners

Paris, Oct. 4. A powerful indictment of the behaviour of foreigners residing in France was published under the heading “The Understrablers” in the “Echo de Paris.” The author is the well known member of the French Academy, Edmond Jaloux, who complains that among the political refugees in France there are some that preach world revolution, while others are inciting hatred of their own countries. Jaloux goes on to say:

“If we want peace then it is not good that so many Italians who fled from Italy and so many Germans who have been expelled from Germany, should unceasingly seek to excite the masses of the French people against the Italian and German Governments. We have even seen foreigners in France demanding that France should declare war on Germany in order to liberate her of Chancellor Hitler. This point of view is all the more surprising in view of the increasing and visibly growing enthusiasm for the Fuehrer in Germany. It is inadmissible that foreigners in France should not be forbidden to mix themselves up with our politics, and to commit acts contrary to the French interests.”—Transocean News Service.

SUPPORT OF RED REFUGEES

Question Of French Expenditure

Paris, Oct. 6. The Minister of Finance, Vincent Auriol, was asked in the Chamber, how much it cost, the French Government to support the Reds who had taken refuge in France. Attention was drawn to the fact that in the Government Gazette it was stated that the outlay already amounted to 3 million francs. The French Government is now asked, whether it had received the assurance of the Madrid Government that this sum would be refunded, and if so, was the French Government prepared to recuperate itself from the Spanish gold now stored in France?—Transocean News Service.

FRENCH MINISTER'S STATEMENT

Banning Of Political Demonstrations

(“Hong Kong Daily Press” Special) Paris, Oct. 6. The declaration by the Minister of Interior, Salengro, that the Government will henceforth no longer tolerate political demonstrations in Paris or environs, is generally interpreted to be directed against the French Social Party founded by Colonel de la Rocque, all the more so, since the Minister defends the new restrictions with reference to the military measures adopted by that Party.

The Marxist press clearly gives to understand that in course of Monday's conversations between Premier Blum and the Ministers of Interior and Justice, the resolution was adopted to dissolve the French Social Party as well as all right wing parties.—Transocean News Service.

LABOUR PARTY DEBATE

Rearmament Issue Raised

London, Oct. 6. At the Labour Party conference in Edinburgh, the debate was opened on the international situation with special reference to the Government's rearmament programme and the resolution which was published on October 3 was submitted.

In moving the resolution, Dr. Hugh Dalton referred to the grave condition of Europe in which armaments had increased and were increasing. The League of Nations had grown weaker and not stronger. International law and treaties had been broken shamelessly without penalty. Collective security had not been organised. Britain's internal security had gone by the creation of great forces within striking distance. German rearmament was the central fact in Europe. He could not exclude from among the many dreadful possibilities that of direct attack upon this country.

If a Labour Government came into power to-morrow and if it was faced as it would be faced with the present world situation, such a Government, pending international agreement to reduce and limit armaments, would, he believed, be compelled to provide an increase in British armaments. British armaments under a Labour Government would be part of a planned system of collective security.

Armaments must be at such a level, Dr. Dalton added, as would make sure that an aggressor should not succeed.—British Wireless.

LIBERTY TO CRITICISE

Edinburgh, Oct. 6. British Labour this morning came to grips with the stormy task of defining its attitude towards rearmament. The executive's resolution in this connection, moved by Dr. Hugh Dalton, reaffirms the Labour policy of maintaining defence forces consistent with the country's responsibility as a League member, and adds that “having regard to the deplorable record of the Government, the Labour Party declines to accept responsibility for a purely competitive rearmament policy and reserves full liberty to criticise the rearmament programme of the present Government.”

The resolution declares that continuance of vested interests in private manufacture of arms will be a grave contributory danger to the peace of the world. A lively debate is expected.—Reuter's Bulletin Service.

FRANCO-SOVIET ALLIANCE

Alleged Invitation From Moscow

(“Hong Kong Daily Press” Special)

Paris, Oct. 6. The allegation that the Soviet Russian Government has approached the French Government with a request to enter into negotiations for “strengthening” the Franco-Russian Alliance is made in a letter addressed to Premier Blum by the Independent Radical Socialist Deputy Montigny, who in that letter announces his intention to interpellate the Government on his subject directly the Parliamentary sessions open.

The Deputy will ask whether a reply has been given by the Popular Front Government to that invitation of Moscow.—Transocean News Service.

BRIEF RESPIRE FOR CONVICTS

Men Who Escaped From Devil's Island

Port of Spain, Oct. 5. A brief respite from the horrors of Devil's Island was dearly purchased by five men found starving and exhausted on a beach in Trinidad. They are two Frenchmen, convicted of murder, an Italian charged with opium dealing, a Belgian and a Corsican, both sentenced for forgery.

They had been twelve days in an open canoe, drenched for a week in unceasing tropical downpours, and subsequently fought through hurricanes and the fierce equatorial sun. Their meagre food supplies were washed overboard during the first week. They have been handed over to the Salvation Army officials here pending their deportation and return to prison.—Reuter.

LORD MAYOR'S SHOW

Troops To Appear In Old Uniforms

WAR EPISODES TO BE RECALLED

London, Oct. 6. The central feature of this year's Lord Mayor's show on November 9 will be the pageant entitled City of London and Defence of the Realm. Historical association with the City of famous regiments will be recalled.

The earliest detachment of City troops represented will be hand gunners, archers, pikemen and billmen in white uniforms of 1593. Members of the Honourable Artillery Company will appear as train bands and auxiliaries of 1643, and men of the Grenadier Guards in uniforms of 1664 Foot Guards.

Defence forces of later periods of history will be represented by other regiments closely associated with London, and finally a tableaux will show London troops in trench warfare on the Western Front in 1915, at Gallipoli in 1916, Passchendaele in 1917 and the last advance of 1918.—British Wireless.

EAST END RIOTING SEQUEL

Hundred Cases Before The Courts

London, Oct. 3. Magistrates dealt with a hundred cases in connection with yesterday's East End rioting when they sat to-day. The majority of the accused were charged with obstructing police or using insulting language, and for the most part they were let off with small fines.

Meanwhile, the Government is seriously considering the issues raised. It is believed some sort of action may be taken in connection with the demonstrations, which were regarded as provocative; but any action in this matter would require legislation, it is understood.

It is generally felt that the Fascist Party did the right thing in abandoning the march in view of the ugly situation which arose. But at the same time it is emphasised that the law which permits free speech could not be respected yesterday.—Reuter's Bulletin Service.

LABOUR PRESS FOR INVESTIGATION

Fascist Activities In Britain

Edinburgh, Oct. 5. The British Labour Party will have to define its attitude on such important questions as the Government's rearmament policy, and also the policy of non-intervention in Spain, at the congress which opened here to-day.

There was an immediate repercussion from yesterday's East End rioting, when Mr. Herbert Morrison moved a resolution which was carried unanimously, calling on the Government to institute an immediate inquiry into the disturbances, activities and finances of the Fascist organisation.

The Spanish question was reached at the afternoon session when the conference debated a resolution of the Labour party executive amounting to a request that the congress subscribe to the policy of non-intervention.

The resolution was carried by a card vote, 1,836,000 for and 519,000 against.—Reuter.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE MARKET

London Resumes Dealings In Italian Lire

London, Oct. 6. A feature of the foreign exchange market this morning was the resumption of dealing in Italian lire, the rate being quoted at 92-94. When the lire was last dealt in on September 25 the closing rate was 84-3/8.

Sterling on New York was 4.91 and Paris 105.

Stock markets were quieter, but the tone confident, currency devaluations on the continent having cleared the air. British Government stocks are quieter following the announcement that underwriting is about to take place for Manchester Corporation 3 per cent. loan of £5,000,000 at 99½ redeemable 1958-63, War Loan 107-7/8. Gold 141/7d.—British Wireless.

RECENT CURRENCY REALIGNMENTS

Opportunity For World Economic Co-operation

BRITISH INITIATIVE AT GENEVA

Vigorous Endeavour To Achieve Success

London, October 6. A signal opportunity for world economic co-operation provided by the recent currency realignments is the theme of a leader in the “Times” which draws attention to the emphasis which Mr. W. S. Morrison, Financial Secretary to the Treasury, in his speech at Geneva yesterday placed upon the connection between the economic and political problem and made concrete suggestions that realigned currency countries should start disbanding obstacles and international control, and secondly that an enquiry should be opened under League auspices into the question of raw materials.

The “Times” opines that the speech indicates that Britain is determined to proceed on the road now opened, not by a futile unilateral move but a vigorous and persistent endeavour step by step along the road to co-operation. In this advance the world has a right to look to Britain to take the initiative.

MARKET ACTIVITY

Great activity prevails in the London foreign exchange market to-day. Sterling showed a weaker tendency in terms of nearly every leading currency, the Wall Street boomlet having the inevitable effect of attracting British money to America. As a result the dollar was much in demand and improved around 4.91.

Good demand also exists for French francs, the rate hardening to 105.01.

Many quarters report a certain amount of repatriation progress which was doubtless inspired by the violent rise on the Paris bourse, in which French nationals holding funds abroad are naturally anxious to participate.

It is considered probable that the largest gold offerings on the bullion market to-day to some extent represent disgorged continental holdings which were sold for sterling, with the proceeds then sold against francs for repatriation.

The French Control Fund has been in the market up to a point, but it is reported it has been a much smaller seller than expected, resulting in the franc-sterling rate largely inclined to pursue its natural course.

Goldsmiths also moved against sterling largely in sympathy with francs.

Responsible circles opine that the present firmness in certain currencies insofar as it is due to short covering may only be short-lived and in all probability followed by a corresponding reaction.—Reuter.

ITALIAN MEASURES

Rome, Oct. 5. The gold content of the lira was fixed to-day at 4.677 per hundred lire, compared with 7.91.

The gold reserve in the Bank of Italy will be revalued on the basis of the new parity, the difference being credited to the Treasury.

Land-owners will be called to subscribe at rate of five per cent. on the net value of their property, to a new five per cent. loan, which is being issued as an offset to devaluation.

Rents may not be increased during the next two months, nor can the price of gas, electricity and public and private transport. Severe penalties await hotel and pension proprietors who overcharge. Also strict measures are being taken to control the cost of foodstuffs and the necessities of life.—Reuter.

MARKETS BRIGHTEN

London, Oct. 5. To-day's events, including Italy's devaluation of the lira and the modification of import restrictions, Mr. W. S. Morrison's important speech at Geneva and the French Minister of Commerce's announcement that France, following Saturday's reduction of tariffs and abolition of some import quotas, is elaborating a customs tariff from which quotas will be entirely excluded, have created a favourable impression in London and the markets generally have had an optimistic tone.

Great prominence is given in the papers to a speech delivered at Geneva this morning by the Financial Secretary to the Treasury in the Commission of the Assembly.

CHINA LOAN ISSUES

Security On Salt Gabelle

PRESS COMMENDS SETTLEMENT

London, Oct. 6.

All financial editors commend the Marconi-Vickers settlement, specially drawing attention that both interest and sinking fund henceforward will be secured on the Salt Gabelle.

These issues have long been in the position of Cinderellas among the Chinese loans and enjoyed no specific security, says the “Financial Times,” emphasising the substantial margin of income available from the Gabelle.

China is continuing the valuable work started last year in rehabilitating credit by settlements of loans in default, says the “Times,” which also draws attention to the new Chinese currency system and the Chinese decision to establish a Central Bank.

The “Daily Telegraph” welcomes “this further evidence of a serious effort now being made to deal with China's outstanding debt obligation.”

Some regret the losses of original investors contrasting with the benefits enjoyed by modern speculators, but there is general endorsement of the bondholders' committee comment that the Chinese Government is not actuated by any desire to evade its legal obligations but governed solely by practical considerations of capacity to pay.

Chinese loans show signs of recovery, partly due to the latest loan settlement and partly better reports of the Sino-Japanese crisis.—Reuter.

which deals with social and economic questions.

Mr. Morrison emphasised the opinion expressed by the League's economic committee that currency adjustment could not bring lasting improvement unless it were accompanied by relaxation of direct and indirect import restrictions in the shape of quotas and exchange control, and declared the reduction of barriers so as to allow imports to adjust price levels was a logical concomitant of currency realignment. He undertook to submit two resolutions to the Commission, one dealing with reduction of trade barriers and another in favour of a League enquiry into the commercial access to certain raw materials.—British Wireless.

U. S. BASEBALL

Giants Win Fifth Game Of World Series

New York, Oct. 5.

A young man named Bill Terry, first baseman for the New York Giants, won the fifth game of the World Series to-day against the New York Yankees. Terry smashed a long fly into the fence, scoring Moore in the tenth inning, to break a tie which developed in the ninth. Moore deserves a share of credit. He reached third base on his own two-bagger and Bartell's sacrifice.

The scene shifts to-morrow to the Giants' home field, the Polo Grounds, and after their impressive five to four win to-day the Giants can be expected to show fight to the finish. The Yankees blurted the winners, ten to eight, but could not make them all count. Three errors did nothing to improve the Giants' showing.

The Giants started with a rush, scoring in the first inning for the first time in the series, and doing a thorough job on five hits. There were three runs on the board when they retired.

A double by Bartell and singles by Ripple and Whitehead sent in Moore, Bartell and Ripple in order. Selkirk smacked a home run in the second, with none on, and Lazzeri came home in the third on Bartell's error, making the score three to two.

In the sixth inning Ott scored for the Giants on an error by Grossett. But the Yankees tied the count at four to four, Selkirk streaking home on an error by Jackson and Powell on a single by Lazzeri.

The Yankees missed a fine chance of breaking the tie in the ninth inning when Gehrig grounded out with men on first and second.

With the former President, Mr. Herbert Hoover, among the 50,000 spectators, Schumacher pitched a brilliant game for the Giants, getting ten strike-outs. Ruffing started for the Yankees, but was replaced in the seventh by Malone, after allowing seven hits and four runs, in six innings, although getting seven strike-outs. Malone was called the losing pitcher, according to the box score.—Reuter.

INTER-SECTION TOURNEY

K.I.T.C. AND NOMADS WINS

Two Inter-Section Tournament hockey matches were played yesterday, the first, played at the Police Training School ground between the K.I.T.C. and the Y.M.C.A. resulted in a win for the former by four goals to nil.

The game was played at a fast pace, with the Indians doing all the attacking. A win for the Indians was evident from the start, and the final outcome of the game came as no surprise to the many spectators present.

The goal scorers were J. Noronha (2), Payra Singh (1) and A. Singh (1).

INDIAN POLICE BEATEN

In the other match played at the Marina ground, the Nomads broke the jinx that had been dogging their footsteps since the commencement of the season when they beat the Indian Police by three goals to nil.

Several positional changes seemed to rejuvenate the team and they were in irresistible form. The forwards especially caught the eye: the decision to play the three Reed brothers, R.C. S.A., and R.J., as the inside trio, flanked by G. Soares and R. M. da Silva in the left and right wings respectively was a wise move, and this quintette constituted a fast, hard hitting and accurate shooting set of forwards, as was evidenced by yesterday's display.

R. M. da Silva opened the scoring after fifteen minutes of a ding-dong struggle when he intercepted a pass from the left wing to put his side one up.

After the "bully" the Indians attacked strongly but the full backs were on their mettle and had them completely under their thumbs. A few minutes before the end of the

INTERPORT CRICKET

SLOW SCORING

Divecha joined Sevenoaks and scoring was very slow and after half-an-hour's play the total was taken to six, Divecha having scored 4 and Sevenoaks 2.

With 56 on the board, Divecha was caught by Alec Pearce, the Colony captain, off Minu. (58-2-21).

Three runs later, Chatterton stepped in front of a delivery from Lee and was given out leg before. He scored a single. (59-3-1).

Meanwhile Sevenoaks was batting steadily. When he had collected 48 he gave a catch off Lee's bowling and Pearce did not hesitate to hold. (59-4-48).

Lunch arrived with the score at 97, Barson 27 not out, and Booth not out 0.

DULL PLAY

The morning's play was dull in the extreme, Shanghai occupying two hours to score 71 runs. In the first twelve overs bowled eight were maidens.

Hong Kong's fielding was brilliant all round, Pearce being especially good.

It is significant that Garthwaite did not bowl as he was to be the opening bowler. He is apparently still suffering from his shoulder injury. Also Gosano, of the University, was not put on during the morning this tending to show that his knee is still giving him trouble.

APPEAL SURVIVED

On resumption in the afternoon, Booth, after surviving a confident appeal for leg before wicket by Lee, sent up the 100 scored in 162 minutes.

The score reached 145 when Booth was clean bowled by Pearce who was bowling round the wicket for the first time. Booth made 23. (145-5-23).

Pat Madar was next man in and off the second ball from Pearce, Nazarin missed a low catch. Madar then scored a single to register the 150 in 210 minutes.

Barson sent Minu to the rails and reached 51 after he had been at the wicket for 115 minutes. Two runs later Pearce accepted a very hard return off his own bowling to send Barson back. Barson scored 53 and played a chanceless innings that lasted 130 minutes. (162-6-53).

SCORING SPEEDS UP

The advent of Leckie speeded up the scoring somewhat and a single from Pat Madar saw the 200 hoisted in 250 minutes.

With another single, Madar, who had been scoring steadily, sent up the 200 scored in 290 minutes of play.

Leckie played a chanceless and aggressive innings and reached 51 in the last over of the day after batting for 65 minutes.

In the same over Pat Madar escaped two lives. He reached his 50 in 95 minutes.

At the close of play the score stood at 266 for six wickets, Leckie 51 not out and Madar 50 not out.

First half, S. A. Reed, after a fine solo effort netted to bring their tally to two.

After the resumption most of the play took place in midfield. Both sides attacked strongly but the respective defences were sound and time and again saved their sides from embarrassing positions. The third goal of the winners came after a neat movement by the forwards. Receiving a pass from the right wing, R. J. Reed scored with a hard shot which had the custodian well beaten.

After this goal, the Police seemed to lose all hope and only the good work of the defence kept them from losing by a greater margin.

The Nomads thoroughly deserved to win. The scorers were R. M. da Silva, S. A. Reed and R. J. Reed.

OLYMPIC SWIMMERS ARRIVE

Japanese Team On Way Home

DISSATISFIED WITH JUDGING

Dissatisfaction at the judging of the high and spring board diving at the Olympic Games in Berlin was expressed by Mr. S. Matsuzawa, leader of the Japanese Swimming delegation, when interviewed on arrival of the N.Y.K. liner Yasukuni Maru yesterday. Mr. Matsuzawa and the members of the team are on their way back to Japan.

"It was also the opinion of several well-known competent officials that the judges of the High Diving were incompetent, and that Shihabara, Japan's first string diver, should have taken third place," stated Mr. Matsuzawa.

IN ENGLAND

"We expected to win the 400 Metres free-style, and this provided the second upset, while we knew that we had little or no chance of winning the 100 Metres back-stroke, but expected to take second place, but here again we only secured third," he remarked.

Mr. Matsuzawa said he was most impressed with the English divers, among whom C. D. Tomalin was exceptionally good.

"Our Olympic water-polo team were given the biggest shock in their tour when they lost to the Singapore Y.M.C.A. by 9 goals to 6 in a very fast match," he added.

DONALD LEACH AT THE NETS

On Way Back To Shanghai

Returning from Home leave, Donald Leach, the Shanghai cricket Interceptor, passed through Hong Kong yesterday on the S.A. Potosdam.

The first thing he did was to practice at the Hong Kong Cricket Club nets. His form is still good. If not improved.

He played a little cricket at home, anywhere where he could get a game. While batting in the nets the Club boy brought him the first telegram from Shanghai giving the score of the Interport, which he took with a smile.

He hopes that he can reach Shanghai in time for the match, when the Hong Kong team will play the Rest.

BADMINTON MEETING

League Commences On Nov. 16

The Executive Committee of the Hong Kong Badminton Association was held yesterday in the Board Room of the "South China Morning Post," the Rev. J. R. Higgs (President) being in the chair. It was mentioned that the cost for a new building would be about $10,000 and the Hon. Secretary (Mr. S. A. Gray) informed the meeting that he had written to His Excellency the Governor, who was Patron of the Association, to head the subscription list and had also applied to Government for a site. No reply had been received as yet.

The proposed visit of the Singapore badminton team was postponed to next season.

The arrangements of the League will be as last year. There will be mixed doubles, men's doubles and ladies doubles.

The Chinese Y.M.C.A. will compete for the first time.

The League games matches will commence on Monday, November 16.

WARSHIP VERSUS AEROPLANE

Recent Actions In Narrow Waters Around Gibraltar

We can consider ourselves fortunate that the evidence, which is beginning to accumulate, concerning the action of warship against aeroplane is being furnished at the expense of others. Last year there was that of the Greek revolution, and this is now in course of being reinforced by the experiences of the Civil War in Spain.

The latter has now been raging for some five weeks and, while it is as yet impossible to adduce dogmatic lessons from the conflicting reports that reach the outside world, we have already indications which may prove of import on a subject with which we, above all other Powers, are concerned—that is, to what extent is air power, in the development of which all great nations started more or less level, going to affect our long-established sea supremacy, so vital to the whole Imperial structure.

THE SPANISH SITUATION.

What is significant about the Spanish situation is that the Government with their war fleet (save some few ships) at their disposal has been unable to close the Straits of Gibraltar and thus prevent the insurgent forces from Morocco from crossing to the Peninsula. At first thought such failure would seem inexplicable, and it is only when the various items of news are pieced together that it is revealed that the operations in those waters have resolved themselves into a struggle between sea and air power, in which the latter, up to now at least, has prevailed.

In this theatre the anti-Government air arm would not only seem to have been comparatively unmolested in its own element, but has actually succeeded in preventing effective interference with its sea transports and at the same time in inflicting loss on the naval units opposing them. That a moral supremacy has been gained would seem to be shown by two incidents towards the end of last month, when a battleship and cruiser which had been bombarding the insurgent stronghold at Ceuta promptly ceased their activities when attacked from the air, while an attempt to destroy a seaplane base near Melilla was likewise called off when three planes made their appearance.

DESTROYERS WORSTED.

Early in August a convoy of ships with no other escort than an armed trawler and a gunboat was able to get from Ceuta to Algeciras in face of the opposition of a Government destroyer armed with five 4-inch guns and torpedo tubes, the latter making off as soon as a hostile plane showed itself. Various other reports indicate that in engagements between warships and aircraft the former have come off second best. A flotilla leader which had been bombed, with the result that several men were killed and a 4.7-inch gun dismounted, is reported as having put in to Gibraltar. The battleship Jaime I is reported to have been rendered unserviceable by heavy bombing. The submarine C3 was sunk by a bomb, and her consort, the C4, badly damaged and compelled to put in to Tangier for repairs. As against these reverses there is a claim that two planes were destroyed by anti-aircraft fire from another submarine.

AIR ARM FAVOURED BY CIRCUMSTANCES.

In appraising this situation it must be remembered, of course, that the air arm has been able to operate in circumstances peculiarly favourable to itself in that it is close on its bases and able to find its targets within the narrow area in which they must lie if they are to fulfil their purpose of obstructing the passage of the insurgents from Morocco to Spain.

Moreover, it is certain that the efficiency of the warships, which, from all accounts, have been deprived of the majority of their officers by murder or imprisonment, will have so gravely deteriorated as in many cases to be almost negligible. The Spaniard, often fights with great bravery, but it is long since he has been noted for disciplined valour; the exercise of which is supremely demanded for the manipulation of modern weapons and methods.

POSITION IN NARROW WATERS.

While conclusions may be rash at this stage, it may, perhaps, be surmised that it is asking too much of a fleet to guard narrow waters from being traversed under escort.

of the air arm unless that fleet itself has support from the air. In due course we shall be able to investigate all the circumstances of this particular case and digest the lessons thereof. But this is not to suppose that any degree of unanimity will be reached between the rival claims of sailors and airmen as to their respective potentialities. Nothing less than a struggle on a vast scale could do that.

A VITAL PROBLEM.

The crux of the whole matter lies in the extent to which aircraft can threaten the existence of the ship; and, in general, naval opinion may be said to maintain that to achieve a high probability of success aircraft at present must attack under conditions which give the defence a reasonable chance, if not of destroying the enemy, at least of impairing his accuracy of aim.

In view of this and such obvious limitations as restriction by weather conditions, difficulties of accurate navigation, inability to maintain a continuous bombardment unless available in larger effective numbers than seems at present possible at sea, and circumscribed endurance and radius of action, an overwhelming stroke by aircraft would seem to depend either upon surprise attack or else upon attacking with numbers too large to be engaged by the defence—numbers seldom likely to be disposable except within range of shore-based aircraft.

QUESTION OF RADII.

The radius within which aircraft can operate effectively over the sea being from 150 to 200 miles, there are still vast areas of sea in which they can only play a minor role, while as a further counter to their activities the increasing use of darkness in naval operations may be anticipated. As against these general considerations it may fairly be contended that progress in aviation is proceeding so rapidly that it bids fair to overcome, or at any rate minimize, many of the disabilities under which it has previously laboured, and that counter measures such as improvements in anti-aircraft artillery and armoured decks have not progressed proportionately in efficacy.

BOMBERS' HITS ON SHIPS.

Adverting to the particular, that is to say the probability of hits on ship by bombers and the percentage of casualties which the latter might be expected to sustain, expert opinion is so greatly at issue that it behoves the impartial student to keep his judgment suspended. For instance, in a recent controversy on the subject a naval writer gave as the results of a closely-reasoned analysis the percentage of hits on ships by the level bombing method of attack, i.e., the method in which the aircraft must approach the point at which bombs are to be released on a steady course, at a steady speed, and at a constant height for a definite minimum period, as 0.4, and the percentage of casualties to the assailants as 61 under certain specified premises. Under similar premises another expert calculated that those figures would be 8 per cent. (or 10 per cent. if near misses were allowed) and 0.019 respectively.

AEROPLANE'S GRAVE DANGER TO FLEETS.

On such positive evidence as is available it would be safe to assert, however, that the aeroplane does constitute a grave and increasing danger to fleets which have to operate in narrow seas and that the scope of the aeroplane tends to increase. Yet there will probably be a large measure of agreement with the statement of an anonymous "Observer" who has written:

"When aircraft can fly as fast as projectiles and fire their bombs from as great a distance from warships as the guns of the latter can fire at them; when bombs can penetrate armour like armour-piercing shell; when salvoes of bombs can be sustained like salvoes of gunfire, they indeed the day of

FLOODLIGHTING FOR CORONATION

Millions of people in this country who will be unable to witness the Coronation procession will be able to see, in some form or other, the brilliant floodlighting and fireworks display, all over the land.

These spectacles will greatly exceed even those during the Jubilee celebrations.

One feature of the floodlighting schemes, which will be more brilliant than anything previously attempted, will be the use of colours. "Hitherto it has been possible to floodlight in colour only by using colour screens," an electrical expert stated, "but with the new developments it is possible to direct the whole of the emitted light straight on to the object in colour, without any loss by passing it through a screen."

In consequence, the colour effects will be more vivid and at the same time less costly to achieve. New colour effects will also be secured by blending, so that buildings can be illuminated with practically any colour required.

FIREWORKS OF ALL SIZES

The Office of Works and many London authorities are already considering schemes of this nature, and the permanent electric installations used for floodlighting such buildings as Buckingham Palace, Westminster Abbey and St. Paul's Cathedral for the Jubilee will again be brought into use.

It is estimated that local authorities throughout the country will spend a total of about £200,000 on fireworks displays. The main spectacle of these entertainments will be the set pieces showing the head of King Edward, the Imperial Crown with the King's monogram, and the loyal wish, "Long May He Reign."

Arrangements are being made by the fireworks producers to supply these set pieces in different sizes to meet the varying amounts that authorities can spend on the celebrations.

the surface warship will be nearing its end. But that is not yet." Col. R. H. Beudon, C.B.E., F.S.C., in the "Naval and military Record."

PHILIPPINE MINING NEWS

Unit holders of the Cabit Mining Association will meet in Manila to hear the results of an inspection trip recently made to the property by J. H. von Heiber, C. T. Geringer, and Milton Sutherland. Mr. von Heiber is president of the association and has been its consulting engineer since it was formed in November, 1935; Mr. Geringer has examined the property before. Mr. Sutherland is a well-known consulting engineer of Manila.

Officials of the company would not make any statement for publication as to the status of Cabit, but unit holders have reported that the result of this recent examination has been most unfavourable.

HEZZELWOOD RESIGNS

The examination resulted from the resignation of George W. Hezzelwood, formerly superintendent of the Balatoc drain tunnel project. Mr. Hezzelwood was engaged to superintend the construction of a small pilot mill for Cabit. This pilot mill arrived in Manila some time ago, and was sent to Cabit to be constructed.

After making an examination of the property, however, Mr. Hezzelwood reported that there was no ore body at Cabit as had been reported previously. He did not construct the pilot mill, and resigned. He has been in Manila during the past week, and is expected to announce a new mining connection soon.

An enormous deposit of low grade ore has been reported on the Cabit property by the consulting engineer. From time to time reports have been published showing good assays.

SAD PLIGHT OF JARROWUnemployed March
To London

London, Oct. 5.
A town deputation composed of two hundred unemployed, and organised with the approval of all parties on the local Council, left Jarrow, Durham, 10-day to march to London carrying a petition to the House of Commons, with 11,572 signatures, praying for measures to provide employment in the town.
The object of the march is to draw attention to the plight of the town, which has one of the highest percentages of unemployment in the whole country and which recently suffered a blow to hopes of alleviation of its distress, aroused by plans for steel works which were later cancelled owing to rationalisation schemes within the steel industry itself.
The Bishop of Jarrow pronounced a blessing on the marchers before their departure, and they were urged by the Mayor to maintain the credit of the town which they represented by their conduct in London and en route.

LATEST FIGURES

London, Oct. 5.
A seasonal decline in employment in the hotel and boarding house service and in distributive trades and the building industry, as well as an increase in the number temporarily laid off in coal-mining, in all amounting to over 34,000, explain the rise of 10,399

METEOROLOGY CONFERENCE PROPOSED

ference of Directors has been in Europe. Since the conclusion of the Great War, this Conference has been preceded by a Conference of British Empire Meteorologists in London and the subsequent International Conference of Directors has consequently been representative of a much greater part of the globe than formerly.

LABOURS FACILITATED

The Commissions concern themselves with different aspects of Meteorology and present reports to the Conference, thus greatly facilitating the labours of the Conference. Of late years it has become evident that some of the regions of the globe have problems which would be better placed before the Conference as the report of a Regional Commission. At the last International Conference of Directors held at Warsaw in Sept. 1935, two such regional commissions were suggested. One for Africa and one for the Far East. The latter was constituted on the motion of the Director of the Royal Observatory, Hong Kong, after consultation (at the Conference) with the meteorological representatives of Malaya, Manila, and Shanghai.

Mons. E. Bruzon, the Director of the Meteorological Service of Indo-China, was nominated President and the Directors of the following services as members:—India, Ceylon, Malaya, Java, Siam, Hong Kong, Manila, China, Shanghai and Japan. Mons. Bruzon has entered upon his duties most enthusiastically and hopes to preside over a meeting of the Commission in early January 1937. An initial difficulty has been the comparative inaccessibility of Hanoi as a meeting place, and the Government of Hong Kong will accordingly invite the Conference to meet in Hong Kong.

The advances in aviation and the extension of air-routes have thrown a considerable amount of extra work upon the professional meteorologist; a meteorological service must now issue forecasts for projected flight, and keep pilots advised of the weather conditions prevailing at their destinations while the planes are in flight. The means to be adopted for the safety of air-routes will probably be the principal consideration of the Commission at its first Conference, together with co-ordination and improvement of the existing storm warning services.

RAW MATERIAL QUESTION

(Hong Kong Daily Press) Special Warsaw, Oct. 6.
The speech delivered by the Polish Delegate Rose in the Second Commission of the League of Nations is interpreted here by political circles as advancing the Polish demand for raw materials and for a solution of the problem of surplus population. The Polish press stress the comprehensive interest aroused by Rose's speech which introduces a new point of view into the discussions on these questions, and which are vitally important as much for Poland as for all central European states.—Transocean News Service.
